ADVANTAGE Services

MSDSpro sources your supplier MSDSs directly from each manufacturer and indexes key fields to help you track chemical inventory, print secondary container labels and create regulatory reports, including SARA Title III/ Tier 2, DHS Inventory and Environmentally Hazardous Substances.

The Requirement

OSHA's Hazard Communication Standard (HCS) requires all employers to provide current Material Safety Data Sheets for hazardous chemicals used in the workplace. These MSDSs should be readily accessible during each work shift to employees when they are in their work areas. [29 CFR 1910.1200 (g)]

The Challenge

Employers face significant challenges with sourcing and matching manufacturer-specific MSDSs with their current chemical inventory. These challenges include allocating the proper resources to contact dozens (often hundreds) of manufacturers for MSDS updates and ensuring employees have multiple fields available to search, view and print the requested MSDS.

The Solution

The MSDSprovider ADVANTAGE team uses your current chemical inventory to source and index MSDS updates from each manufacturer. We will:

- issue a report on our MSDS acquisition activities
- archive your obsolete MSDSs to help you meet document retention requirements
- link specific locations throughout your facility for 24/7/365 employee access.
- index key fields for printing secondary container labels and creating chemical detail and regulatory reports, including SARA Title III/Tier 2, DHS Inventory and Environmentally Hazardous Substances.

Is this you?
MSDSpro can help.

Our Customers Speak

"MSDSpro's services team helped us enter thousands of manufacturer MSDSs into our system. We can now maintain our entire MSDS program using MSDSpro, without incurring additional third party costs. We are confident that if we require any assistance from MSDSpro in the future, they will be there to help."
